Renaissance of Kings

Submitted by:

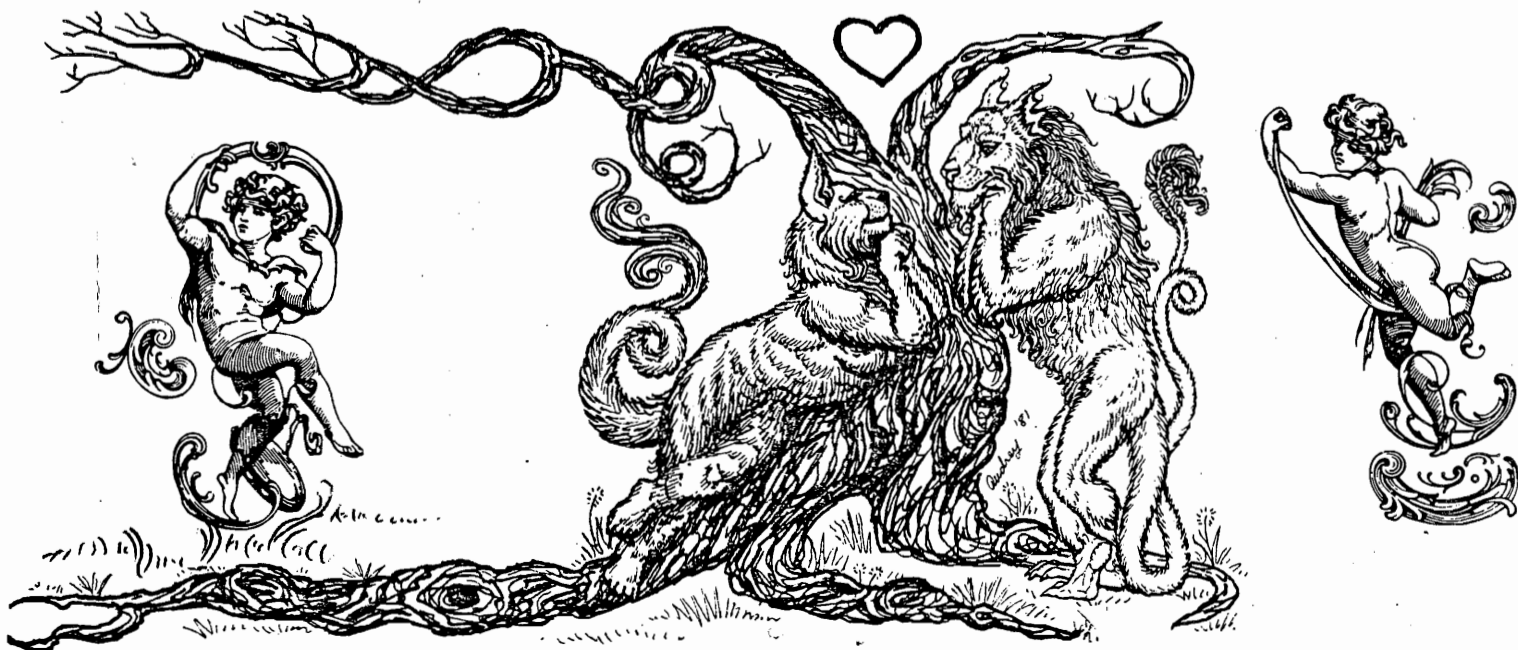

Dolores Terrell, member of Renaissance of Kings Cultural Arts
Faire Committee and Tudor Rose Society of Central California
251-9257

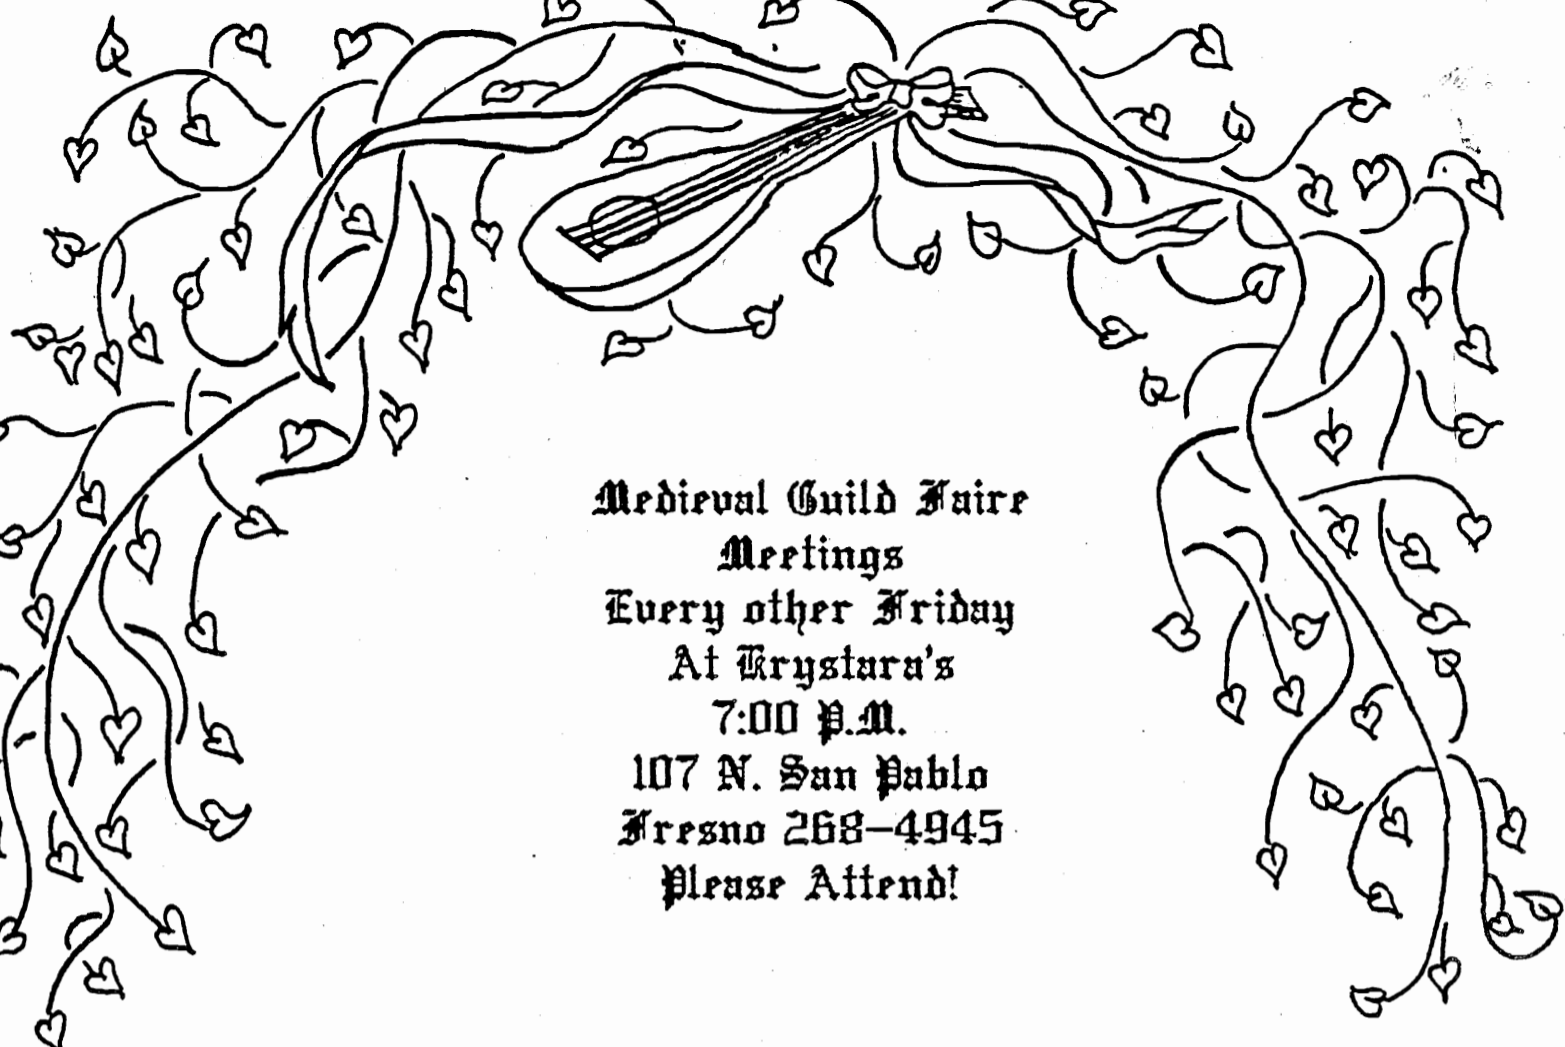

Singers and musicians, please hearken unto this message!

"The Jolly Tradesmen" is a local singing group which was formed in 1987. Members perform informal music of the Renaissance era and old folk songs of England and the Celtic lands, including love ballads, drinking ditties and music with lots of double-entendre (Oh, how those folk of the 16th century loved double-entendre!).

Last year the group took part in the Tulare County Very Special Arts Festival on behalf of the Visalia Creative Center in May, the Central Coast Renaissance Faire in San Luis Obispo in June, the Fresno Recreation Department-CAFY Summer Youth Program Festival in July, and the Hanford Renaissance of Kings Cultural Arts Faire in October and in private parties this winter.

Director is Deborah Golding and co-director is Laurie Coleman. The first meeting is February 8 at 7:30 p. m. at 550 E. Bullard, #126. For more information call 435-6869. Instrumentalists are also welcomed to take part.

A Lost Realm's Magic

Listen!

Hushly, to the magics lost rippling still echoing out it's lore
Embrace the past's wonders to seek out the opening of that door
Come! The assembled knights entreat, as their great Lords await
To behold your vision, a purpose, a name, place or lasting fate
Be ye King, an Innkeeper, a Healer, Paige, an Archer or a Lord
Or take true a Prince Valiant, accepting honor of knighted sword

Listen!

Hushly, to forgotten realms, searching myths and tales of great
Accepting all, even the immortals from hands of Lady of yon Lake
Imploring tales haunt, their passions sound for our yearning take
And Chivalry is found, Kings, Lord Knights and the Ladies of fair
Who beyond their times, call great chivalrous deeds of lost care
And only a true heart listens for the ancients of summoning dare

Listen!

Hushly, to a heart's sheer wonder to the glories of Avalon's past
Rousing the ever circling ring upon future waters as it was cast
And paradise be granted to meet the Chief Dragon, Arthur, at last
For none shall sway to change our hearing hearts yearn with scorn
So come, gentle folke, as the chilling mist greets each new morn
Hear the tales of common, the high or a dragon beasts newly born

Listen!

Hushly, to the bawdy tales or the minstrels sweetly sung song
Hear an answered challenge of clashing swords that surely belong
Amid non-diminishing gloried Chansons of men who have passed on Hold to that beauties wisdom and wonder, before it takes flight
For who among the past were not touched by the Gods gift of right
As we, the future, rekindle and linger, in the dark ages of light

Listen!

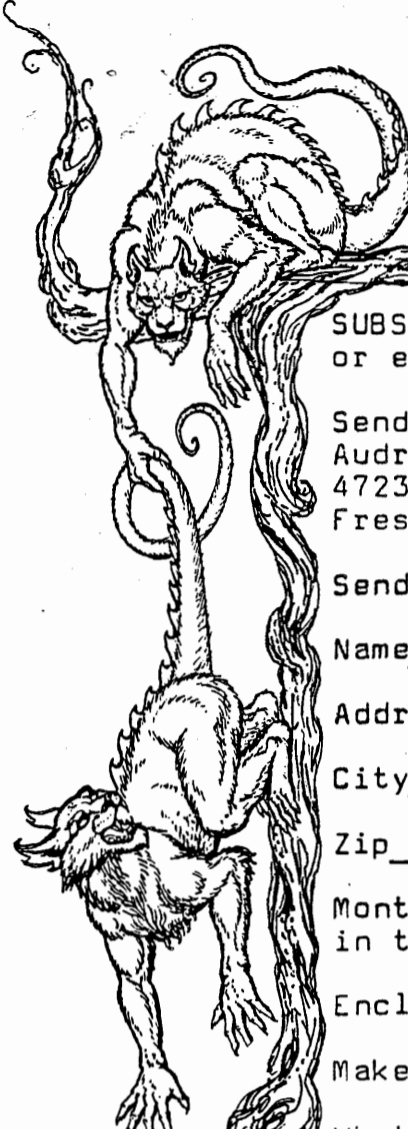

Hushly, to strains of Earth bound honor they withstood and bore
For shield or banner, all gave identity to shrouds that they wore
Condemn not times passing to those glorious lost kingdoms of lore
Heed the winds of happenings cause whose tragedies struck galore
Hail! The folkes who lived those cherished realms of yester yore
And salute the future's child, grasping the days gone of evermore

To Me! A Call to My Colors! All bow and pay heed
I, King Arthur, lasting ruler, do hereby decree
The envisions of my times, their glories asleep
I bequeath to the future, my kingdoms safe keep

My Tankard Raised In Solemn Tribute, A Prayer, A Toast
For The Times Of Past Promise....To The Times I Love Most!
